

Congregation
Beth Israel
of the
Merrimack Valley

CBI Goes to the Movies

with the

Boston Jewish Film Festival

to see the Boston Premiere Screening of

'90 Minute War'

... the Israeli /Palestinian conflict will be resolved Once and For All by a soccer game!! Who Knew?!?...

Saturday, November 18, 2017 @6:30pm

Museum of Fine Arts, Remis Auditorium, Boston

Meet at the back of the museum @5:45pm to get tickets and seats together.
If you get to the museum early, there could be some street parking nearby.

The Israeli-Palestinian conflict is about to be resolved...by a soccer match. In this politically-incorrect, satirical mockumentary, it's winner-take-all to remain in the Holy Land. As managers Moshe Ivgy (My Lovely Sister) and Norman Issa (Arab Labor) prepare for the highest-stakes game of their careers, nothing is easy — from finding a stadium to agreeing on a referee. The trials that ensue take a fresh, and hilarious, lens to the conflict.

Director Eyal Halfon

Arabic, English, Hebrew and Portuguese with subtitles, 85 minutes

3 Ophir (Israeli Academy) Award Nominations

$12 per ticket, dinner to follow at each participant's expense.

There are a limited number of tickets available - first come, first reserved.

Dinner at 9:00pm at Biltmore & Main, 530 Main St, Reading, MA, <https://biltmoreandmain.com/>

RSVP to Caren Jacobson, 978.857.2587call/text, carenblair@aol.com or Amy Sherr, 978-474-0540, office@BethIsraelMV.org for more information/to hold your spot.

For more info on the Boston Jewish Film Festival, 11/8 - 11/20, www.bjff.org

